

People of the Bible

It is important that our children know the people of the Bible. Here's the challenge: For the next year, talk with your children once a week about a person (people) of the Bible. Do it over dinner or a time when the family is together. See what they know. Help them in what they do not know. Below are 52 weeks of people of the Bible. This is certainly not an exhaustive list. In many cases, the verses listed with each are only a starting point of what the Bible says about that person. This is a great way for you and your child to learn about the people of the Bible together and for you to interact with your children about Biblical things! (*God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit are not on the list: Make sure they are discussed as you talk about the people and how they interacted with them!)
